JOURNAL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Tuesday - 25 February 1964

1. [] Met briefly with Senator Thomas J. Dodd and gave him a copy of our paper on the McCarthy article. (This is an unclassified version of the same paper that was prepared for Senator Symington.) The Senator appreciated receiving this. The Senator was quite rushed for time but mentioned the following things: Jay Sourwine had been in touch with him concerning the "defector in New York" whose name Sourwine could not remember. Senator Dodd thought this might be [] about whom we had previously alerted the Senator. (Sourwine wanted to bring [] before the Internal Security Subcommittee but Senator Dodd indicated he had taken care of this.) The Senator said he had received favorable comment with regard to the speech he made challenging the critics of CIA. (He mentioned Representative Lindsay and said he thought he could do something on this one too.)

I also talked with David Martin, the Senator's staff assistant, who said he would make copies of the more interesting comments on the Senator's speech and send them to us. He is still anxious to have the Senator's speech reprinted in booklet form and asked if I had had any success in getting an "angel" to defray the cost of printing. I told him I had not been successful in this thus far. (It now appears that Martin will not send the speech to GPO until he knows he has a source of funds for the printing. I feel we should make a final decision on this and so advise Martin.)

2. [] Picked up from the House Foreign Affairs Committee a copy of the executive session transcript of the appearance of USIA representatives before Representative Fascell's Subcommittee. This is being reviewed for references to the Agency or intelligence.

5. [] Mr. Robert Hunter, in the office of Senator Russell Long, called requesting information as to whether the applications for employment of [] had even been received and the current status of her application for employment. Advised I would check and be back in touch.

6. [] Delivered to the office of James T. Kendall, Chief Counsel of Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee, copies number 1 - 8 of the 24 February 1964 updating of Cuban subversion in Latin America.

25X1 7. [] Had appropriate discussions on a sensitive matter with Mr. Vinson, Senator Russell and Mr. Cannon. These have been discussed with Dr. Wheelon and the Director.

25X1 8. [] Talked with Senator Howard W. Cannon furnishing him certain information and making arrangements to clear up a problem. These efforts were most successful. See Memorandum for the Record.

25X1 9. [] Met with Mr. Thomas Temple, Assistant to Congressman M. G. (Gene) Snyder (R., Ky.), concerning the Congressman's letter of 21 February 1964 which enclosed three Henry Taylor columns extracted from unidentified newspapers. Mr. Temple readily appreciated the Agency's inability to comment on the Henry Taylor articles for response to constituents and indicated that the copy of Senator Dodd's speech of last week before the Senate would be most helpful in preparing appropriate responses from the Agency would be required.
